

PVFA Syllabus Review Report

Course: HECC 108

Q1. Does the syllabus include the current catalog course description?

YES

The syllabus includes a clear equivalent of the catalog course description by stating 'Survey of architecture, painting, sculpture and the minor arts from the 14th century to the end of the 20th century.'

Q2. Are the learning outcomes consistent with the course description in the current catalog?

YES

The learning outcomes in the syllabus align with the catalog description by focusing on identifying various styles, interpreting subject matter, analyzing styles from different cultures, and applying these skills to understanding art in a global context.

Q3. If a multi-section course, are the course description and learning outcomes consistent across all sections?

The syllabus represents a single course section; cross-section consistency is not applicable.

Q4. Are course materials and topics consistent with the course description and learning outcomes?

YES

The topics and materials mentioned in the syllabus are consistent with the description and outcomes, focusing on ornament and culture, visual language, and contributions to ongoing research projects.

Q5. Are topics covered essential for students to be prepared to enter their profession or discipline?

YES

The topics mentioned in the syllabus are essential for preparation in the discipline as they cover various styles, techniques, and contexts for the visual arts.

Q6. Are topics covered consistent with the expected body of knowledge in the discipline?

YES

The topics in the syllabus align with standard disciplinary content by covering architecture, painting, sculpture, and minor arts from the 14th to the 20th century.

Q7. Are controversial topics presented that have no relation to the approved course description and learning outcomes?

NO

Controversial topics related to race, gender, sexuality, or other contested social issues are not included in the syllabus.

Q8. Do any assignments require students to hold certain beliefs unrelated to the approved course description and outcomes to receive a grade?

NO

Assignments in the syllabus do not require the adoption of unrelated personal beliefs; instead, they focus on ornament, culture, and visual language.

Q9. Does the course content include material related to race ideology, gender ideology, or sexual orientation?

NO

Race, gender, or sexual orientation ideology is not a central required component in the syllabus; the course materials are examined solely for critical, analytical, and scholarly evaluation.
